Three Decades of Excellence and Innovation in Hospital Medicine

The UCSF Management of the Hospitalized Patient course, chaired by Bob Wachter, MD, is the longest-running and most popular CME course for hospitalists and others who care for hospitalized patients. Taught by UCSF's top teachers, including Gurpreet Dhaliwal, Andy Josephson, Lekshmi Santhosh, Tracy Minichiello, and Bradley Sharpe, the course highlights recent evidence and current controversies, and blends lectures with multiple interactive workshops to promote active learning. Content areas include critical care, perioperative care, hospital neurology, infectious diseases, cardiology, and nephrology, as well as AI, diagnostic reasoning, and management of the patient with substance use disorder. All of this at the beautiful Hyatt Embarcadero in the heart of San Francisco's waterfront district.

WHAT TO EXPECT

Designed for hospitalists, internists, advanced practice providers, and other clinicians involved in inpatient care, this conference offers a dynamic combination of:

- Interactive sessions featuring expert-led discussions on common inpatient conditions.
- Case-based learning to apply evidence-based approaches and improve diagnostic and management skills.
- Focused updates on critical topics like cardiovascular conditions, infectious diseases, perioperative care, and more.
