Breast Imaging Update

Overview

This breast imaging course is designed for both the clinical radiologist who specializes in breast imaging and the radiologist who has general diagnostic clinical duties. A practical approach will be emphasized, providing an overview and update on clinically relevant topics in breast imaging. The course will highlight recent developments, with a strong focus on the use of multimodality imaging and intervention (mammography, ultrasound, MRI, and contrast-enhanced mammography).

Course content will include didactic lectures, challenging cases sessions, and end-of-morning faculty panels for questions & discussion. Faculty will also highlight changes in the latest BI-RADS v2025 Manual.

There will be three informal “Brainstorming at Breakfast” sessions, during which one of the speakers will moderate attendee discussion regarding workplace practices. Registrants will also have the opportunity for an optional workstation pre-view of Dr. Joe’s twenty Challenging Cases from Sunday thru Wednesday; so they may compare their preliminary findings when Dr. Joe reviews the cases during the Thursday sessions.

Objectives

At the completion of this course, the attendee will be able to:

- Apply and utilize BI-RADS categories as appropriate, and be aware of changes and updates in BI-RADS v2025
- Develop a skillful and practical approach to performing and interpreting mammography and breast US
- Understand and implement the growing use of MRI in the clinical setting
- Understand the current use of contrast-enhanced-mammography in breast imaging

Big Island Hawaii is the largest and youngest island in the Hawaiian chain, and with the current volcanic activity, it is still growing. Hawaii’s varying and dramatic climate zones generate a world of environments on one island, including lush rain forests, volcanic deserts, snow-capped mountaintops and beautiful black sand beaches.
