Point of Care Ultrasound for the Hospitalist

The UCSF Point-of-Care Ultrasound (POCUS) for the Hospitalist Course is a hands-on experience to learn the techniques of bedside ultrasound. Live demonstrations, case review, and didactics will complement hours of hands-on practice sessions. Participants will gain the skills, knowledge, and confidence to integrate bedside ultrasound into clinical practice.

We will have a traditional and advanced track – both of which can count towards the SHM POCUS COC. The traditional track will match standard SHM POCUS certificate of completion content and focus on the core skillsets needed as a practicing hospitalist (and those required for mastery for the SHM Certificate of Completion). The advanced track is targeted towards those with prior POCUS exposure (ideally a prior 2-day workshop or more) and those who seek to use more advanced skills or to be a POCUS educator.
